PRIZES MAY BE GIVEN FOR DEATH TO RODENTS

Council of National Defense Shows How Rats and Mice Destroy Products of Industry.

A nation-wide campaign to exterminate rats and mice has been launched by the Council of National Defense, through its state and county councils. The saving of food, reduction in fire loss and protection from the spread of disease are the principal objectives of the government in its drive against the rodents.

"Rate and mice consume annually food that it takes 200,000 men to produce," the defense council asserts. "They destroy property, increase the fire risk and menace health. We have indifferently allowed this serious drain upon our resources to develop, although it is subject to scientific attack and control.

"Now, when we are straining every effort to conserve food, a nationwide intensive campaign for the extermination of rats and mice is im-

The national council advises state councils to impress the movement our hard earned guilders on especially upon men who deal in foodstuffs, to make their stores and warehouses ratproof. Fire marshals in big cities also will be called upon to co-operate by explaining to business men how mice and rats start disand is urging Washington to do part in wiping out rodents.

I travel next spring, fully equipped and with much in motors and oft I see the ample aircraft supply, the war can be brught to an end by the autumn of 1919," said Mr. Reavis. "The war mud; respect for morals losing, lords of Germany are convinced of the language they are using the impossibility of winning this war, would freeze a purist's blood. but the German people are kept in ignorance of the true condition."

Mr. Reavis, who recently returned from the European war zone, told of his experiences there and discussed America's preparation for war. He went into the psychological aspects of the average German mind today relative to the war and jts final out-

He told that our preparation in so short a time far exceeded the program of any other nation, with the exception of aircraft production. He said that as fast as men are trained in this country because here units in this country hangars, base units and hospitals have been and are being built across the seas.

Speaking of the billeting of Ameri-Espeaking of the bilieting of American can soldiers with the peasant folk of France, he said the average soldier's mind has been broadened. Mr. Reavis told of being in American trenches on Leroy Herron of this city and of which the could see the soldier's manufacture of the so German'soil, from which he could see the valley of the Rhine and the famous Black Forest of Germany.

Telling of the peace drive which experts of diplomacy have predicted will be started by the imperial government of Germany soon, the speaker stated his belief that it will manifest itself in the form of pleas from neutral countries that the interests of humanity ought to prompt the warring nations to bring the war to an end. He said this propaganda will be inspired by beaten Germany, and declared that if the allied nations permit the war to

YOUNG PURSE-SNATCHERS ARE CAUGHT BY POLICE

Colored Boys Confess Other Crimes When Captured Directly Following Daring Theft.

After eluding the police for more than four months, two of the youngest and most daring pocketbook snatchers who have ever worked in Washington were captured last night by police of the second precinct after a running chase on upper 7th street. The boys had just snatched a pocketbook from Miss May Manning, 942 O colored, thirteen years old, and Winfield Cole, also colored, fourteen years old, both of 124 Q street.

The boys, the police say, confessed to snatching pocketbooks from Miss Mattie Whitacker, 1102 L street, on June 5; Miss Elgin Hatchett, 207 R street, on June 18; Miss Clara Studd, 1409 New Jersey avenue, on August 25, and Miss Manning yesterday.

They were arrested by Lieut. Bremerman, Sergt. Johnson and Precinct Detective Livingston, all of the second precinct.
